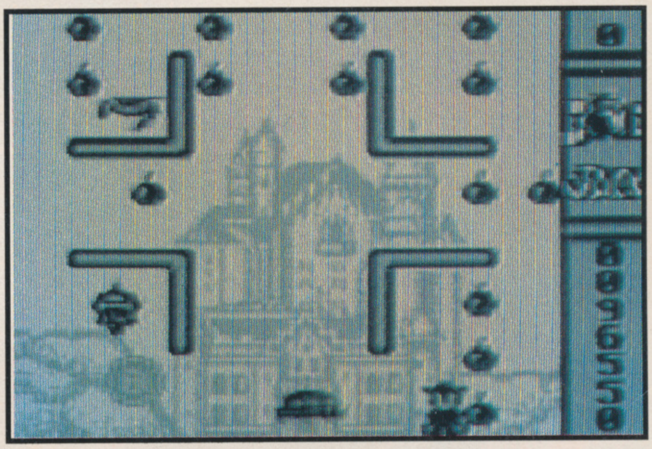
BOMB JACK BLASTS ONTO GAME BOY

Bomb Jack, one of the big hits of the arcades in the mid-Eighties, is coming to Game Boy! Infogrames, the latest software publisher to be granted a third party license by Nintendo, have snapped up the rights to bring little Jack to the little screen, and are busy putting the finishing touches to the game in time for release next month!

If you've never seen the game, you control Jack, a busy little bomb defuser who must rush around each level, picking up explosive devices as he goes. Grab them in the correct order for bonus points, and collect the various icons that appear on-screen for big points and amazing abilities!

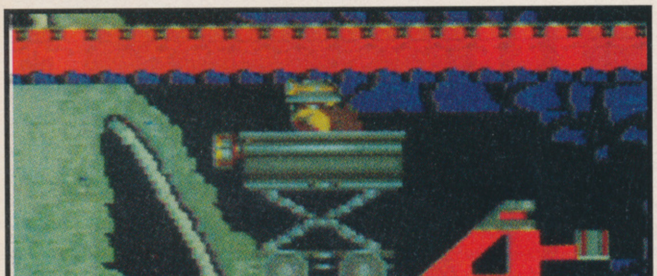
We've had a sneak preview of the game and it looks superb - the classic Game Boy combination of a simple idea and highly addictive gameplay. We reckon that Bomb Jack is going to hit the Game Boy scene with a bang - you can find out for yourself when you're treated to the Exclusive GO! Review, which will be exploding onto these very pages next ish!

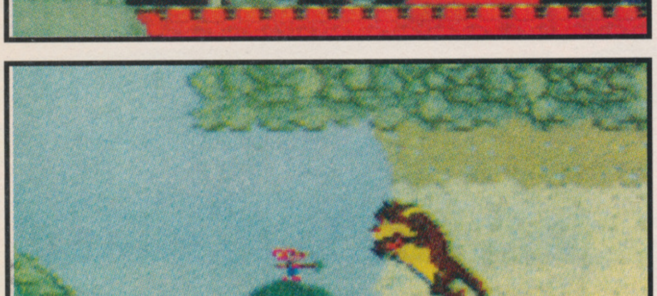


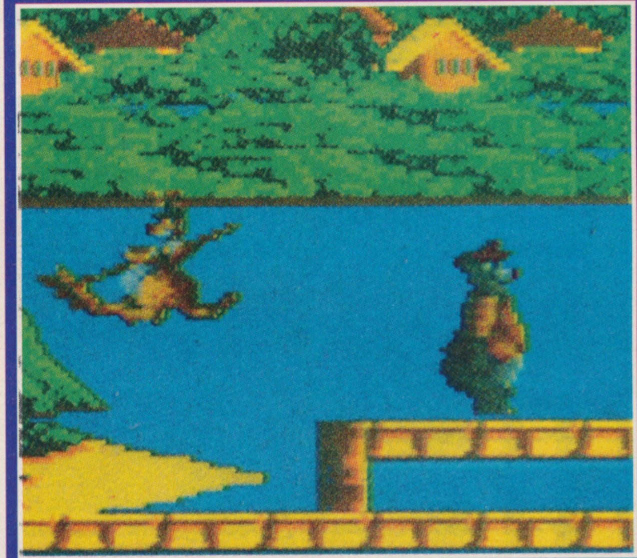
TRIFF! IT'S TITCHY TAZ

Hot on the heels of its successful outing on Megadrive comes the news that the excellent Taz-Mania is soon to make an appearance on the Game Gear! Based on the hit cartoon series currently showing on Saturday morning telly - if you haven't yet seen it do, 'cos it's quite a giggle - the player controls Taz, a wild-eyed Tasmanian Devil, across level after level of furious platform action.

We've grabbed a few screenshots of an early version of the game and, as you can see, this is looking well-hard. Wizz through a variety of stages, both above ground and through dark caverns, taking a trip on a speeding mining cart on the way. The 16-bit version of the game is a winner, and if the little Sega version is half as good, Game Gear owners are onto something special. More news as it comes in - don't miss it!







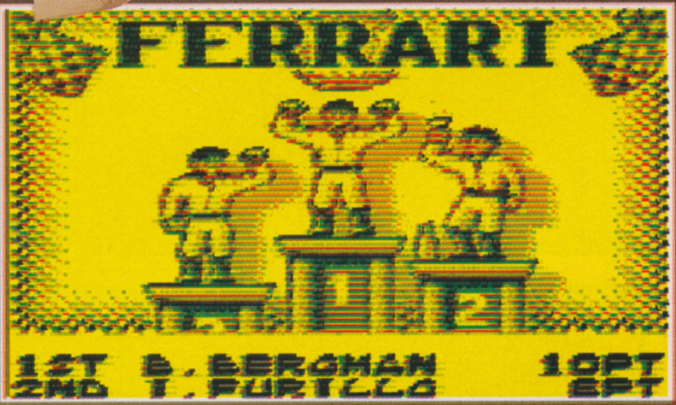
CRUMBS! ANOTHER CARTOON CONVERT

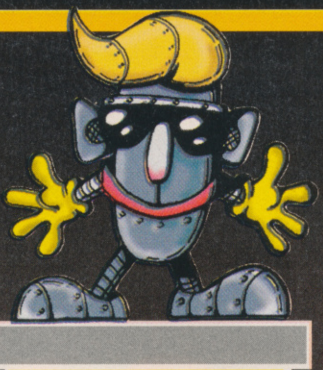
Staying with the Game Gear, word reaches us of another top cartoon show soon to be appearing on Sega's colour cracker! TaleSpin may not be that well-known over here, but apparently it's massive over in the States. And that's not too surprising, as it's a high-action romp starring Jungle Book's very own Baloo The Bear, who's come out of the woods to be come a daredevil international hero sort of thing.

Whatever the storyline, from the quick butchers we've had of the game, it could well turn out to be one of the Game Gear's biggest hits! Sonic/Mario style gameplay is in abundance, and there's a stack of characters from the cartoon to meet up with, too. As if you didn't know, we'll bring you an Exclusive lowdown on TaleSpin in the none-too-distant, so don't go away!

You all know Ferrari. It's the company that makes those top cars and isn't doing very well in the Championships at the moment. But never mind, maybe this latest offering from Acclaim will help them out a little. Ferrari Grand Prix puts you in control of one of those 200mph-plus beasts and lets you drive around some of the toughest tracks around the globe. Make sure you qualify for the next race and please don't prang the car - they're dead expensive!

GAME BOY- £24.99





> Like the current F1 team itself, Ferrari Grand Prix has the potential but lacks the clout to be a good racer. Graphically it's fair, but there's simply no sense of exhilaration - disaster for a high-speed driving game. It's not the Olivier Grouillard of the race-game world, but Ferrari Grand Prix could do with a fresh set of tyres and a new nose-cone.
>
> PAUL RAND

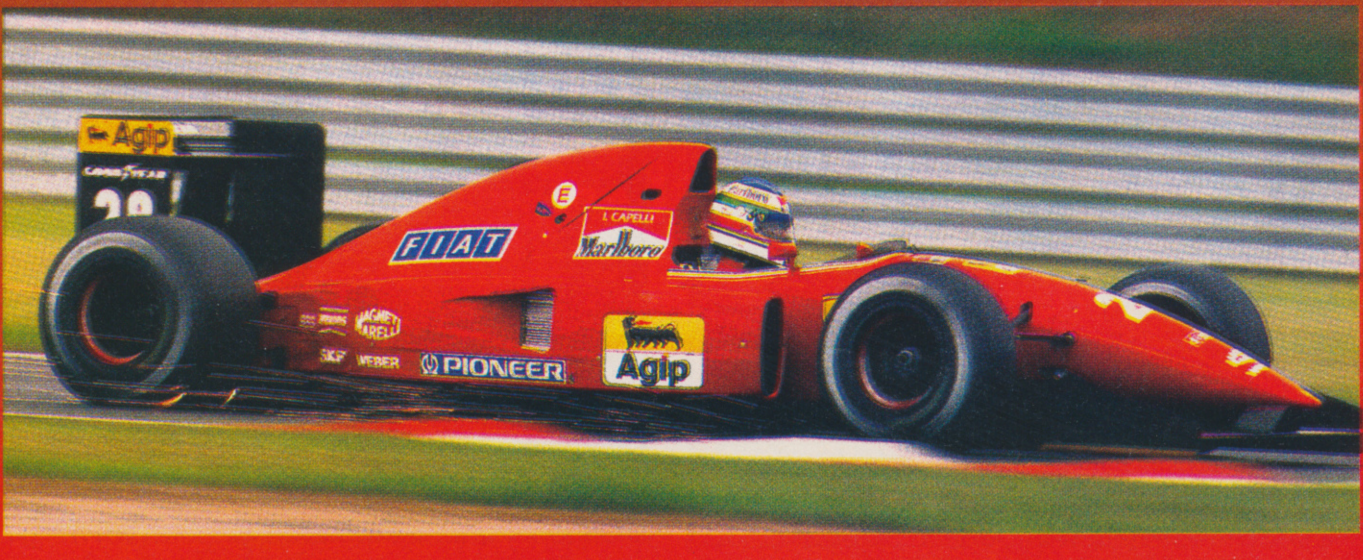
GIVE US THE GEN ON THE F1 MEN!

Ferrari have a bit of a rep for building top cars and they did have a rep for doing well in Formula One competition until just recently. Unfortunately, they're being a bit poor at the moment, despite the best efforts of top drivers Jean Alesi and Ivan Capelli. Many of the F1 rumours for 1993 revolve around Ferrari, too; Gerhard Berger is set to join them next season from McLaren, but the biggest piece of gossip must be the whisper that Nigel Mansell has been offered SEVENTEEN MILLION QUID to race for the Italian outfit next season!

FERRARI GRAND PRIX



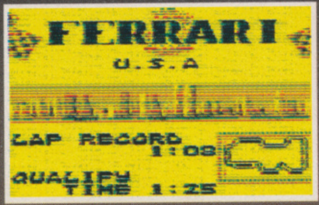
ALL TYRED OUT

All this high-speed japery takes its toll on your tyres; what with hairpin bends and chicanes-a-plenty, it doesn't take long before it's pit stop time. The pits are located at different positions on each track and the work begins automatically as soon as you enter. It only takes seconds to swap your slicks - but time is of the essence so get it right.

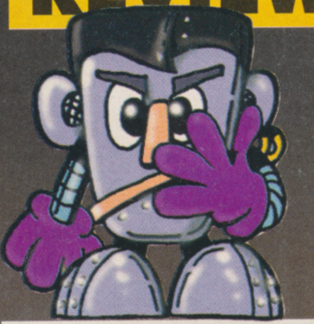
TOP GEAR

You're given the choice two types of transmission in Ferrari Grand Prix; either an automatic gearbox which, by its very nature, does the hard work for you but doesn't really bust a gut when it comes to speed, or the four-speed manual stick which can be tricky to use but provides some real record-breaking MPH.

Ferrari
GRAND PRIX
CHALLENGE



Can you beat the lap record?



> Cor blimey, it's driving games ahoy this month! Ferrari Grand Prix tries to rise above the rest with some pretty smart graphics - but that's as far as it goes. The gameplay is the problem - slow, unrealistic and, to be honest, boring. A perfect emulation of Ferrari at the moment really.
>
> PAUL ANGLIN

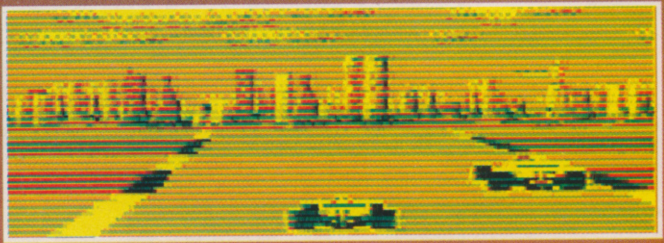
Okay, you're in theird place with one lap to go - get past those two in front and you can win the Championship then join an Indy team!

BEEN AROUND THE WORLD

No racing game would be complete without a fair share of tracks to choose from and Ferrari Grand Prix Challenge is no different. You're given a choice of countries to drive in and you can even see the sights while you drive. Just like their real-life counterparts, there is a distinct difference between each individual race track; for instance, the Great Britain course is a relatively straight one, whereas the Brazilian circuit is full of bends.



CHALLENGE

FERRARIS ON THE BIG SCREEN

Ferraris have had their fair share of fame and fortune, courtesy of a number of top films. First up they had a starring role in the fab Tom Selleck series, Magnum Then there's a kind of Ferrari-type thing in Miami Vice (it wasn't actually a Ferrari but was decked out in full Testerossa livery, looked smart and went dead fast). The car's speed and handling is more than adequately displayed in the movie Cannonball Run, driven by Dean Martin and Sammy Davis Jr dressed as vicars! And last, but by no means least, Eddie Murphy grab the wheel of a Testerossa in Beverly Hills Cop II. And they even let him keep it! Spawny get.

PC GT OR NOT PC GT

Dear GO!,

I have a Game Boy which I think is fabulous. However, I'm thinking of buying a PC Engine GT, so please could you answer the following questions:

1. You say the PC is available but only on import. I can't find it anywhere. Please tell me where to get one with an address or something.
2. When can I get the games and how much will they cost?
3. How may games are there for the Game Boy and PC Engine GT?
4. Do you get a game with it? If you do is it any good?
5. Can you get a TV tuner for it?
6. If you do how can you get it and how much is it?

Please answer my questions and keep up the incredibly good work on GO!

DAVID MADGE,
Headington, Oxford

1. Try Console Concepts. Their telephone number is 0782 712759.
2. You can buy games for the machine now and they sell for around £30.
3. For the Game Boy roughly 150 with more being released every day. The PC Engine GT has two different versions, the USA and Japanese. There are about 50 games available for the USA version with around 200 Japanese carts that can be used with a converter and visa versa.
4. It depends on the deal you get for the machine, but not usually.
5. Yes, but it only works in Japan as they use the SECAM TV system.
6. Quite a few yen.

GENETIC THROWBACK ALERT!

Dear GO!,

Please can you rack your brains to answer my questions:

1. When will Sonic 2 come out on the Game Gear and when will you review it?
2. What do you think is the best game currently available for the Game Gear, Game Boy and Lynx?
3. When will Super Marioland 2 be out on the Game Boy?
4. In issue 7 a boy called Tom French wrote in saying how good the Game Gear is then in issue 10 someone wrote in calling you 'div of the decade' who was also called Tom French. Are you allowed to write in twice or were these different people?
5. When will you review Terminator on the Game Gear?

PAUL GRENT,
The Netherlands

1. Around November time - and we'll review it the second it comes in!
2. Wonder Boy 3 on Game Gear, Jack Nicholas Golf on the Game Boy and Baseball Heroes on the Lynx.
3. Very very soon. Watch this space.
4. You can write in as often as you like as long as your first name's not Paul and you haven't got a couple of luckless parents named Mr. and Mrs. Grent.
5. Last issue. Doh!

LYNX KING OF THE JUNGLE?

Dear GO!,

I am writing in reference to Adam Juniper's letter in issue 11 of GO! He criticised the Lynx for not having any useful add -ons. Well I have a Lynx 2 and I would like to point out a few things. Firstly the Lynx doesn't need a magnifier because the screen is large enough. It doesn't need a stereo amplifier (like the GB) because of its 32-bit audio processor. It doesn't need a Game Light because the screen is back lit. And finally it does have a sun screen to protect it from reflecting light,unlike the GG and GB. So I hope that will silence Divvy Adam. I also have a few questions for you guys at GO!

1. When will Switchblade 2 be coming out on the Lynx?
2. Is the car cigarette adaptor worth buying?
3. Are Toki and Dirty Larry Renegade Cop any good?
4. Are Lemmings and Eye Of The Beholder coming out soon.

P.S. I think your mag is great but it could do with a few more Lynx reviews.

ANDREW MILNE,
Inverness, Scotland

1. We reviewed it last issue and it should be out about now.
2. Only if you have a car.
3. Toki is the bizz and Dirty Larry isn't finished yet.
4. Lemmings will be out for Christmas, but there's no release date for Eye of the Beholder.

THICKIES CORNER

Dear GO!,
I think your mag is brilliant!!! My brother has a Game Gear and I reckon they are ACE. I think Sonic the Hedgehog is the best game out at the moment because it has good graphics and is very playable. When will Sonic 2 come out? People with Game Boys must be mad!!! I wouldn't use one a a door stop!!!

DALE OWEN,
North Wales

ELVIS ALIVE AND WELL LIVING IN PLUMSTEAD!

Dear GO!,
After reading the letter from Sam Netscher of Plumstead (issue 10), who obviously has more sideburns than Mario could imagine, it really proves that people will queue up to buy Barbie. He must have a swollen head after being shoved up a cows butt since birth with his crap Game Boy, which he can't see because he's so skint he can't afford a reading light, let alone a Game Light. Can't he realise that the Game Boy is so crap a paper clip beats it in the technology stakes. Mind you he is right about something - the Game Boy is economical. It can be recycled and made into fart powder. Now all I can say to Sam is fill your mouth with helium and we might get some sense out of you!

SAM SCHOFIELD,
Crawley, West Sussex

Yes, well...

CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS WRITES

Dear GO!,
I believe that the world is round, yes I do. I also believe that GO! is free, yes that too. I am almost positive that my name is Avin Vagel. But what I am absolutely certain about is that GO! should have a Complete Guide To Hand-helds section. Yes, yes, yes I do believe that. I believe that GO! should have a centrefold with a completely naked handheld (and perhaps a completely naked Elle Macpherson) in it. Oh yes, oh yes indeedy!

AVIN VAGEL,
Australia

SPOILT FOR CHOICE

Dear GO!
Call me a dumb lettuce if you will but this handheld technology has me beat. I can't make head nor tail of the situation. I have a Game Boy and a Lynx and what I can't understand is that although the Lynx is by far the more powerful of the two with a colour screen, the Game Boy seems to have better graphics! Is that crazy or what?
If you could shed some light on the subject I'd be very grateful.

SIMON PARKIN,
Leeds

A right puzzler and no mistake. Firstly and most obviously graphics from game to game differ hugely so, unless you were to compare the same games programmed by the same company, it would be grossly unfair. However, I'm afraid it all boils down to those clever Japs who seem to be able to work wonders with very small amounts of hardware. The Lynx has the potential to be the most awesome hand-held around, but for reasons best known to Atari, with only a few exceptions, the software seems to fall short in the quality stakes. Mind you, with Switchblade 2 arriving shortly and Lemmings in the pipe-line things are picking up.

CALL ME GREEN AND PLANT ME IN MANURE!

Dear GO!,
I thought you might be interested in hearing a small piece of gossip that's spreading like wildfire around my school. Some people are saying that Capcom are planning a handheld version of Street Fighter 2. No one here knows on what machine so I thought you'd be the best people to ask. If it is true what machine will it be on, how much will it cost and when will it be out? Please say that it's true.

KEVIN HALL
Exeter

Do yourself a favour and get someone to pick up GO! and deliver it to you at the hospital every month. You'll manage to avoid being the subject of playground ridicule and those 'Kick Me' notes you keep finding taped to your back will disappear overnight!

BIT OF A FLAP

Dear GO!,
I read your fab mag every single month and last issue you said that Speedball 2 and Xenon 2 are being done on the Game Boy. I know that both these games are from the Bitmap Brothers's and are great, but my favourite game of theirs is Gods. Will this be released on the Boy?

STUART HOLMES,
Brighton

There are no plans for Game Boy Gods as yet, but that doesn't rule out someone picking up the license if the demand is big enough.

GIZ A JOB!

Dear GO!,
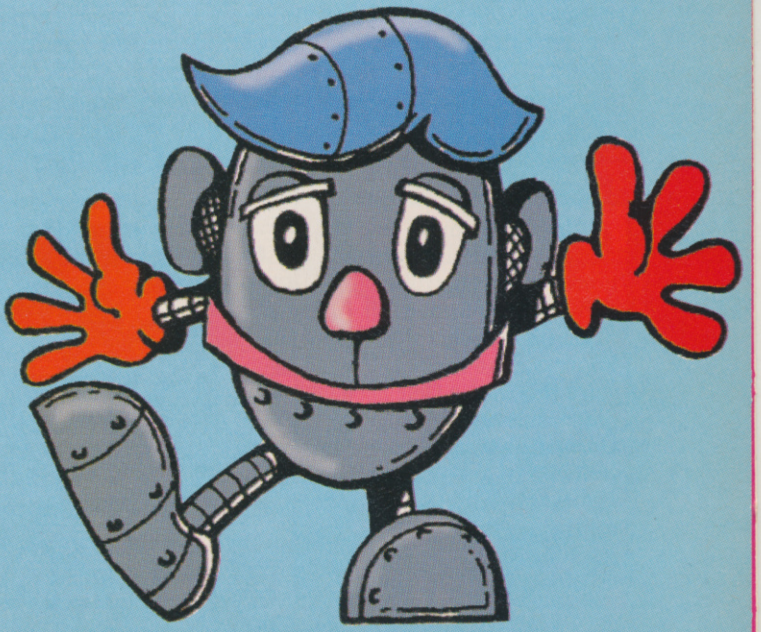
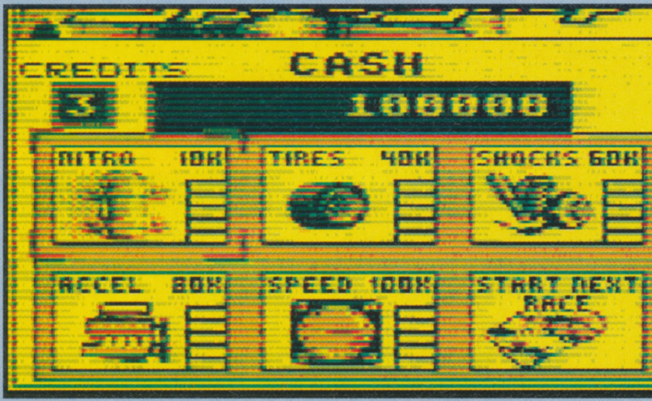
I am a hand-held wizard. I can complete most games within an hour of playing them and got to thinking that, when I leave school, I'd like to work for you. What better way of spending my days than playing all the latest and greatest hand-held games? I would never mind working late as I spend all my spare time on my machines anyway and I'd always come to work at least an hour early just to see what else had come in the post. I reckon I'd be an ace TV presenter too. So how about it guys - why not give me a job?

PAUL STOKES,
Slough

Only Rand spends all his time playing games, the rest of us work jolly hard preparing and reading all the scripts we get sent from film companies. Tim hasn't come into the office at all this month as he's currently being sponsored by Hawaiian Tropic and has spent the last three weeks on a beach in Barbados.



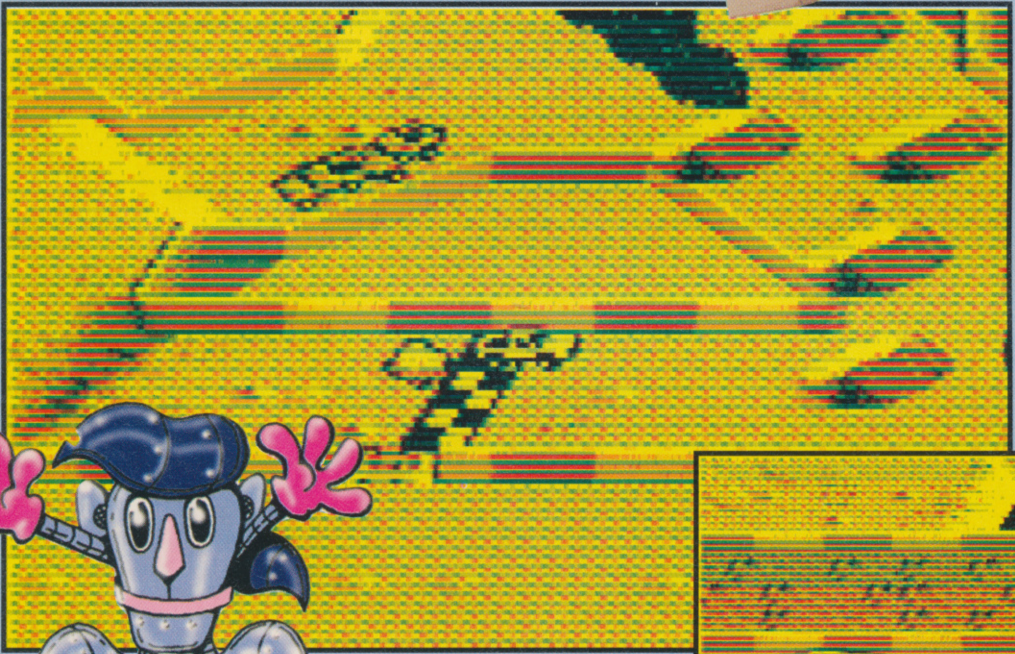
SUPER OFF R



Grab some gear down at the Speed Shop - but keep an eye on your cash!

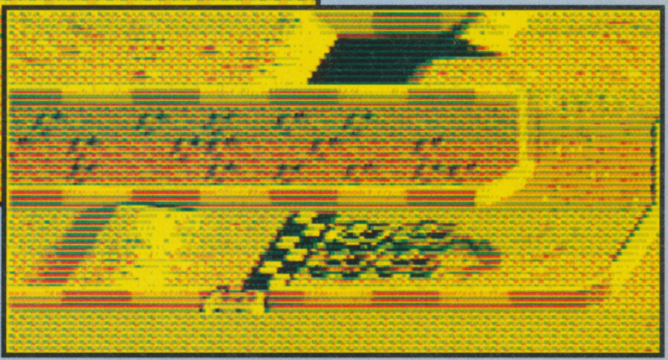
Rev those engines and get set for the leanest, meanest demolition derby of your life. Forget those namby pamby Formula One guys; Super Off Road racing is smashing, crashing, dirt-track bashing for the seriously deranged! Take on the best the Game Boy has to offer and steam round a collection of courses to win fame, fortune and bikini-clad groupies if you come out tops! Stop at the parts shop at the end of each race, kit out your racer with all the best stuff, then get out onto the next track and burn rubber!

GAME BOY- £24.99



TRASH THAT TRUCK!

One of the best aspects of Super Off Road is the fact that you can ram your opponents off the track and nick their placings - you can even catch glimpses of bits of cars falling off onto the course at times! A handy tactic if you're struggling in last place, 'cos if you're not placed in the top three at the chequered flag not only will you be out of the race, but they'll be no prize money to show for your hard work.



> It was always going to be a hard game to successfully convert, and Super Off Road ultimately fails to impress. The sprites were tiny in the first place, but on the Game Boy they're reduced to looking like Christmas cracker toys! A very disappointing cart.
>
> STEVE KEEN

Lumme! Look what the winner receives - a nice trophy!

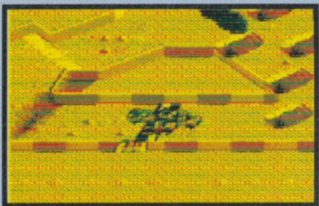
COMPETITION

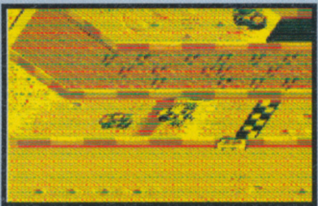
Unfortunately Game Boy owners are going to be gutted as the Game Gear version is a much more accurate recreation of the SNES game. The movement of the Game Boy trucks is unrealistic and sluggish which is where its main short comings lie as the sprightly pace at which the vehicles careered around the tracks was the reason behind the game's original success.

WEENY RACING

The original coin-op's graphics were titchy enough, and trying to reproduce those on a Game Boy screen would be impossible. What the programmers have done is turn what was a static screen showing the whole of the race track into a scrolling viewpoint which can be difficult to follow at times. But hey, better than having the cars look like midget ants!

ROAD RACER





STOP AT THE SHOP!

Every would-be dirt track champion's going to need his own fair share of repairs. The only way you'll stay in the running in the later stages of the game is by beefing up at the pits after each race. Amongst the appendages on offer are spare tyres, shock absorbers and faster engines. They all cost a packet, mind you, so make sure you finish each race in a good position - the higher the placing, the more prize money you receive!

THE WORLD PICTURE

Super Off Road is not limited to racing in one country as you can journey to Japan, America the UK or Italy. There are four different tracks for the accompanying countries and you will be required to race in both directions, doubling the amount of courses and racing circuits on offer.

> “I happen to think this is quite a good little racer. Not as fast and furious as other versions, sure, but the new view works well and gameplay is addictive and challenging, especially later on. Take a peek at Super Off Road, why not?”

No, it's not a large fire extinguisher, it's a tube of turbos for your off-road racer!

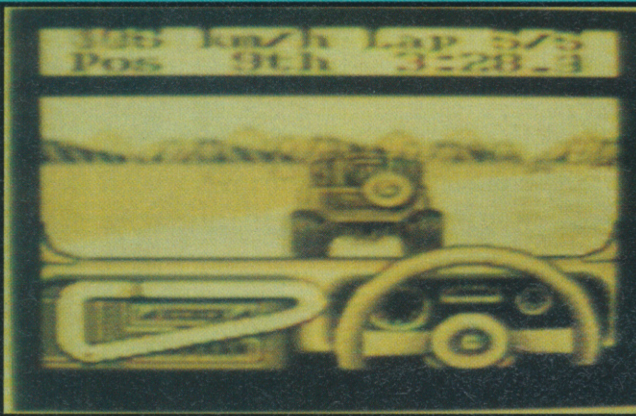
JEEP JAMBOREE



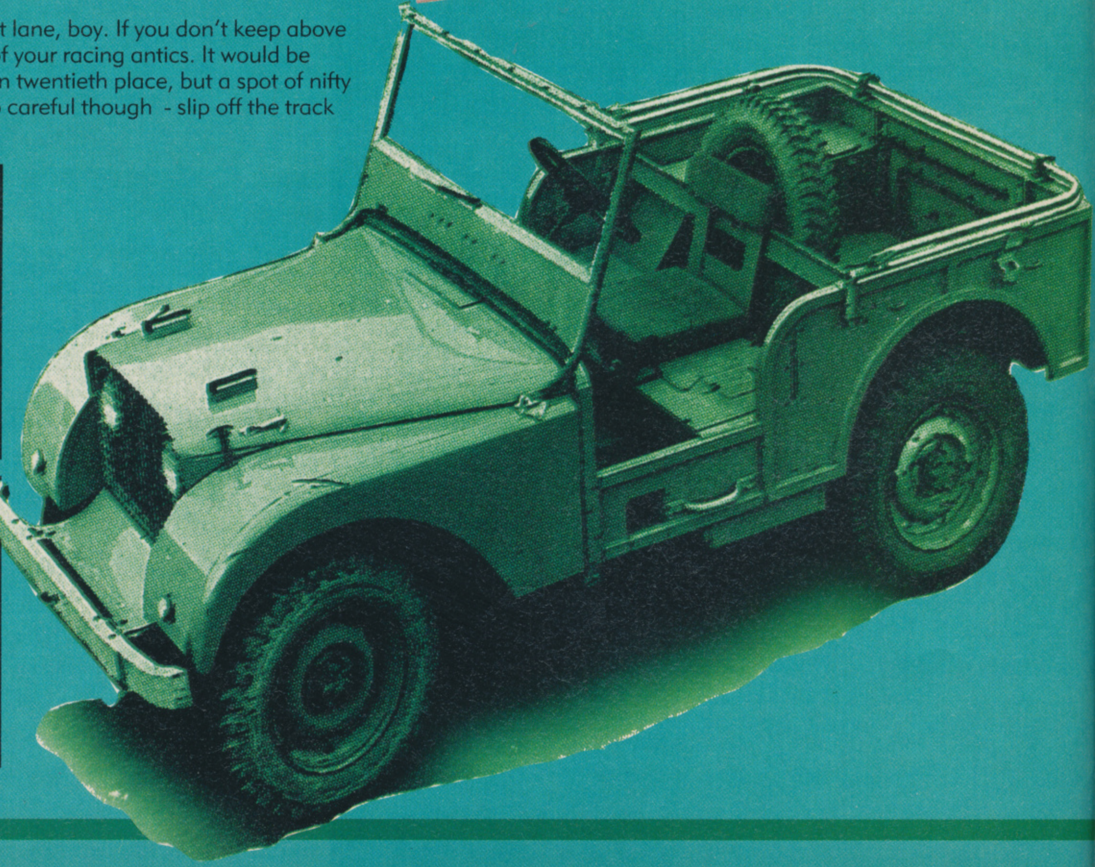
Some higih speed thrills and spills as jamboy approachjes ninth place. Great

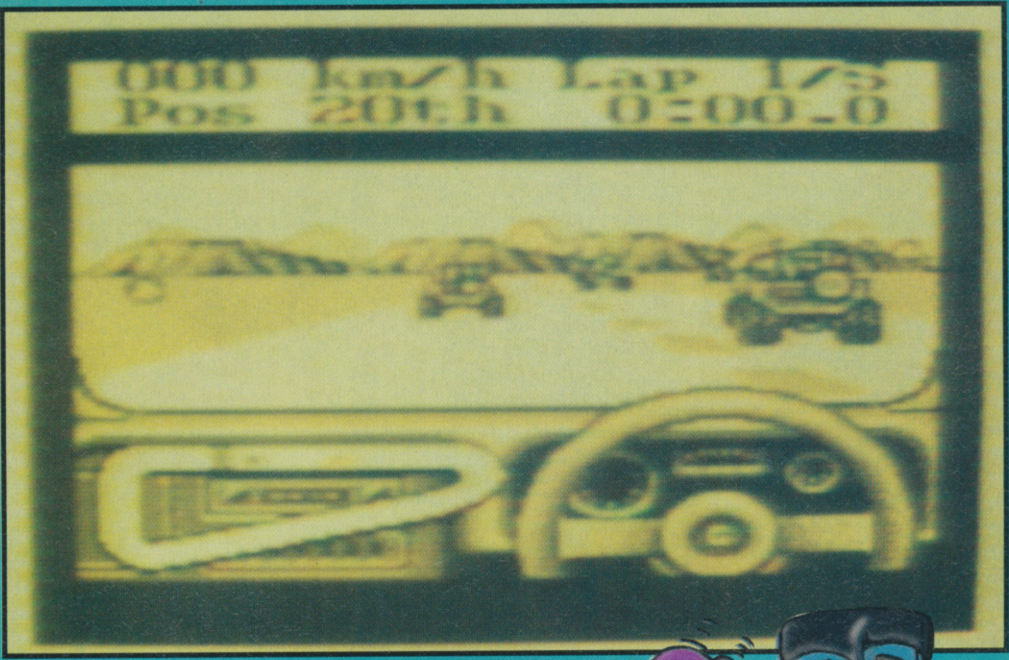
Is there really any excuse for driving around racing tracks in excess of 150mph? Well no, not really - but it's one helluva laugh! Jeep Jamboree puts you in control of a nifty little jeep in desperate search of some real race action - and perhaps a bit of a jamboree, too. You're given a choice of a ton of different tracks and told to finish tenth or better - not a bad deal until you find out you start in twentieth place. But make it and hey, old Nige won't be the only driver with something to crow about!

GAME BOY- £24.99

OVER THE LIMIT

You can't take it easy in the fast lane, boy. If you don't keep above tenth place, that'll be the end of your racing antics. It would be rather easier if you didn't start in twentieth place, but a spot of nifty driving will soon rectify that. Go careful though - slip off the track and you'll fall right back!





AND THERE'S MORE

If you're looking for another racing game on the Game Boy then you could take a look at the likes of F-1 Race and Days Of Thunder. Also, coming to you in the very near future is a Game Boy version of the cracking Super Off-Road coin-op - and it's reviewed this very issue! And if that's not enough, still in the pipeline is a track thrash again from Gremlin, based upon their successful Supercars computer game. Lumme mummy!

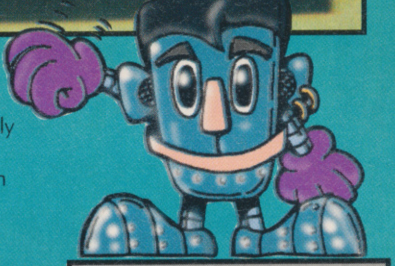
As he comes into the corner he powers through into second place but canhe hold it until the line?

STACKS 'O' TRACKS

If you're not much of a speed demon then it's always possible to change the difficulty level at the beginning of the game. Not only does this alter the amount of laps you have to complete before calling it a day, it also determines how far down the field you can slip before it's all over and you've got to go home.

INTERNATIONAL PLAYBOYS

Who said you could only jet set in a jet? In Jeep Jamboree you can travel to and race in twenty different countries! In some places you'll be racing over vast barren deserts and in others a common-or-garden race track is the site. Each track has a different difficulty setting, so make sure you can crack the lot before even thinking about being the best!



❛ Smart game? Not really. Jeep Jamboree impresses at first, but the lack of speed and smoothness makes it something of a travesty. To top it all, the control method is sluggish and the whole package becomes frustrating quickly. ❜

❛ This could have been most interesting, but bad programming lets Jeep Jamboree down badly. Jerky scrolling is in abundance, and the easy pace of the game doesn't really hold with the subject. Too slow and undemanding.Shame. ❜

PAUL RAND

Some top racing action here but make sure you don't prang the car 'cos it's getting a bit hard to replace therm th ese days.

CH-CH-CH-CH-CHANGES

Jeep Jamboree wasn't always called Jeep Jamboree. It started life as Dirty Racer, but Gremlin decided to scrap that title and call it Trax. But they weren't overly enamoured with that name either, and ended up giving the game the title it has today. Interesting, eh?

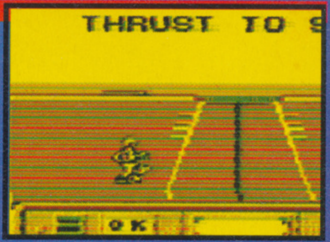
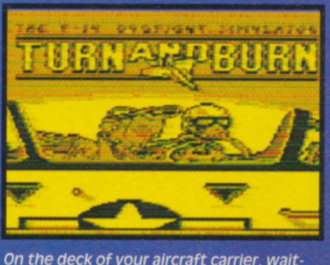
TURN AND BURN

Ahh, the feeling of soaring through the skies. As free as a bird, dipping and swooping through the clouds - except when there are half a dozen MiG fighters blasting large holes into your ass. In Turn And Burn you're the pilot of the US Navy's F-14 Tomcat, an all-round ridiculously good plane. The missions are simple: take off, blow up some enemy fighters and return to the safety of your aircraft carrier. Fancy yourself as a bit of a Tom Cruise, Top Gun kinda guy? Then fill your face with a hefty slice of mom's apple pie and get out there boy!

GAME BOY- £24.99

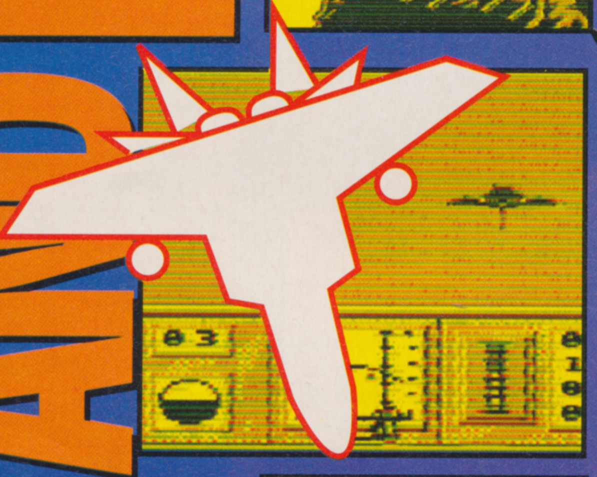


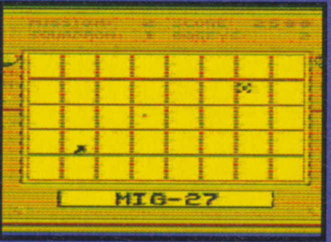


On the deck of your aircraft carrier, waiting to soar into the wide, blue yonder!

SAPS DON'T USE THEIR MAPS

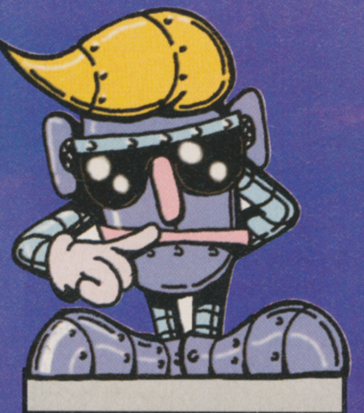
It's a big thing, this sky stuff, and it's very easy to lose those nippy MiGs. Which is why you should constantly refer to your radar map, which shows exactly where those baddies are hanging out. Once you're close to them, start watching the short-range radar on your heads-up display to get right up to them - then start shooting!





TRICKY TAKE-OFFS

Before you get into the blasting action, you've got to get your crate off the aircraft carrier. Not terribly demanding - just fire up those after burners and off you go - but the return journey is somewhat more hazardous. Too high and you'll overshoot the carrier, have to come around for another shot and waste a load of fuel. Too low and you'll hit the water and die. Keep an eye on the Computer Landing Display, follow its suggested line of descent and you should be alright. (Probably.)



> Think this is an exciting, action-packed 3D blaster? Think again - Turn And Burn is a decidedly average attempt to bring dogfighting to the Game Boy. Bland graphics and shallow gameplay will have Top Guns topping themselves.
>
> PAUL RAND

WATHER WICKED WEAPONS

The F-14 is renowned for its ability to beat up enemy planes with its high-tech weaponry, and this facet of the fighter's make-up is included in Turn And Burn. Blow the baddies out of the sky using either the wing-mounted 50mm cannons or, if you need something a bit more precise, let loose a couple of AIM-54 air-to-air missiles. And, if you've got a bogey on your tail (it's a plane, thicky!) and he's firing off his weapons load right into your cheeky bits, it'd be a good idea to turn on the ECM systems and fool the opposition's missiles into thinking you're a seagull as opposed to tons of dangerous metal!

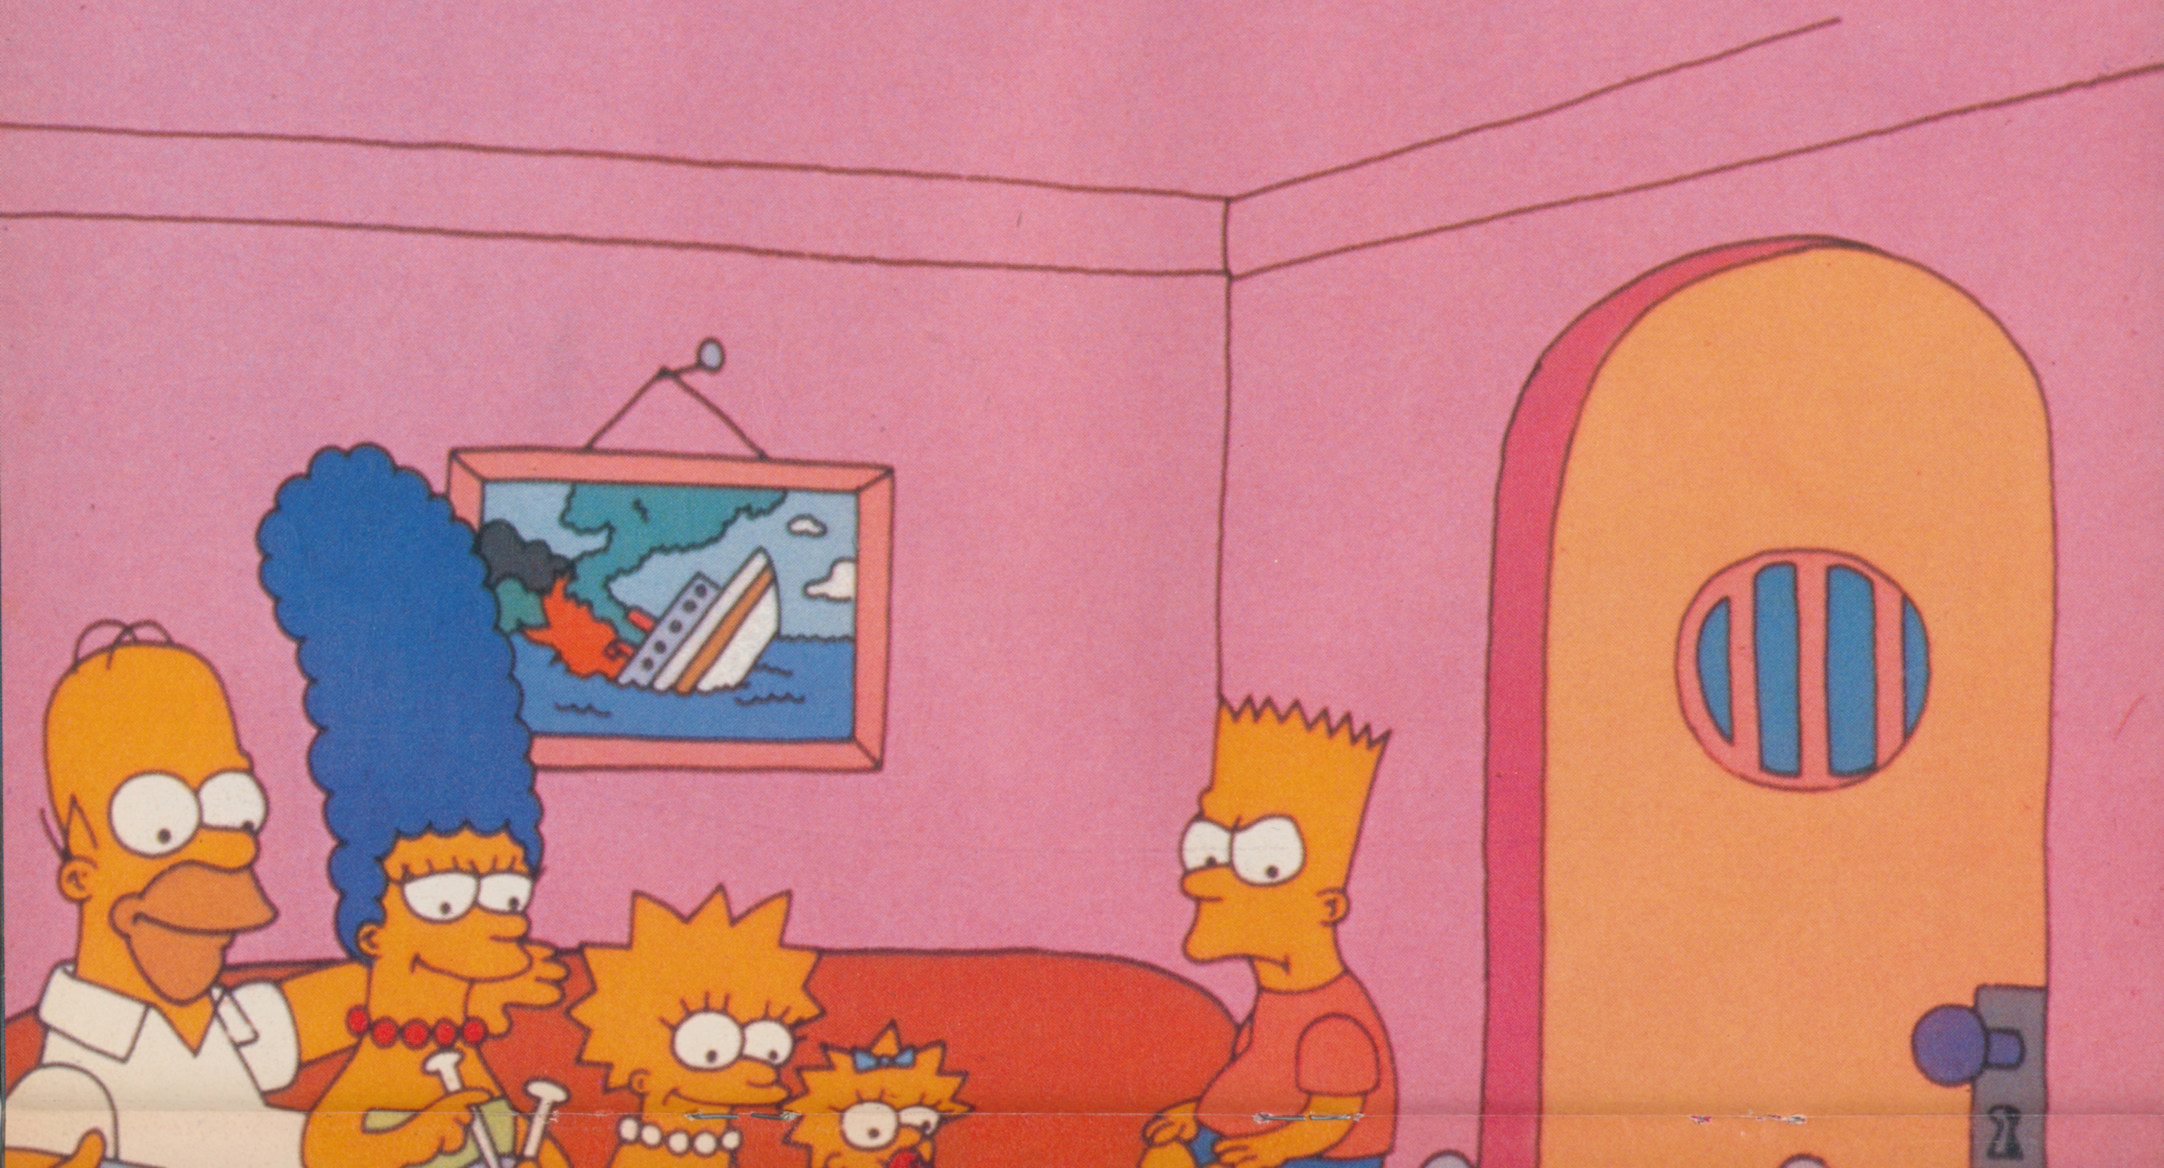
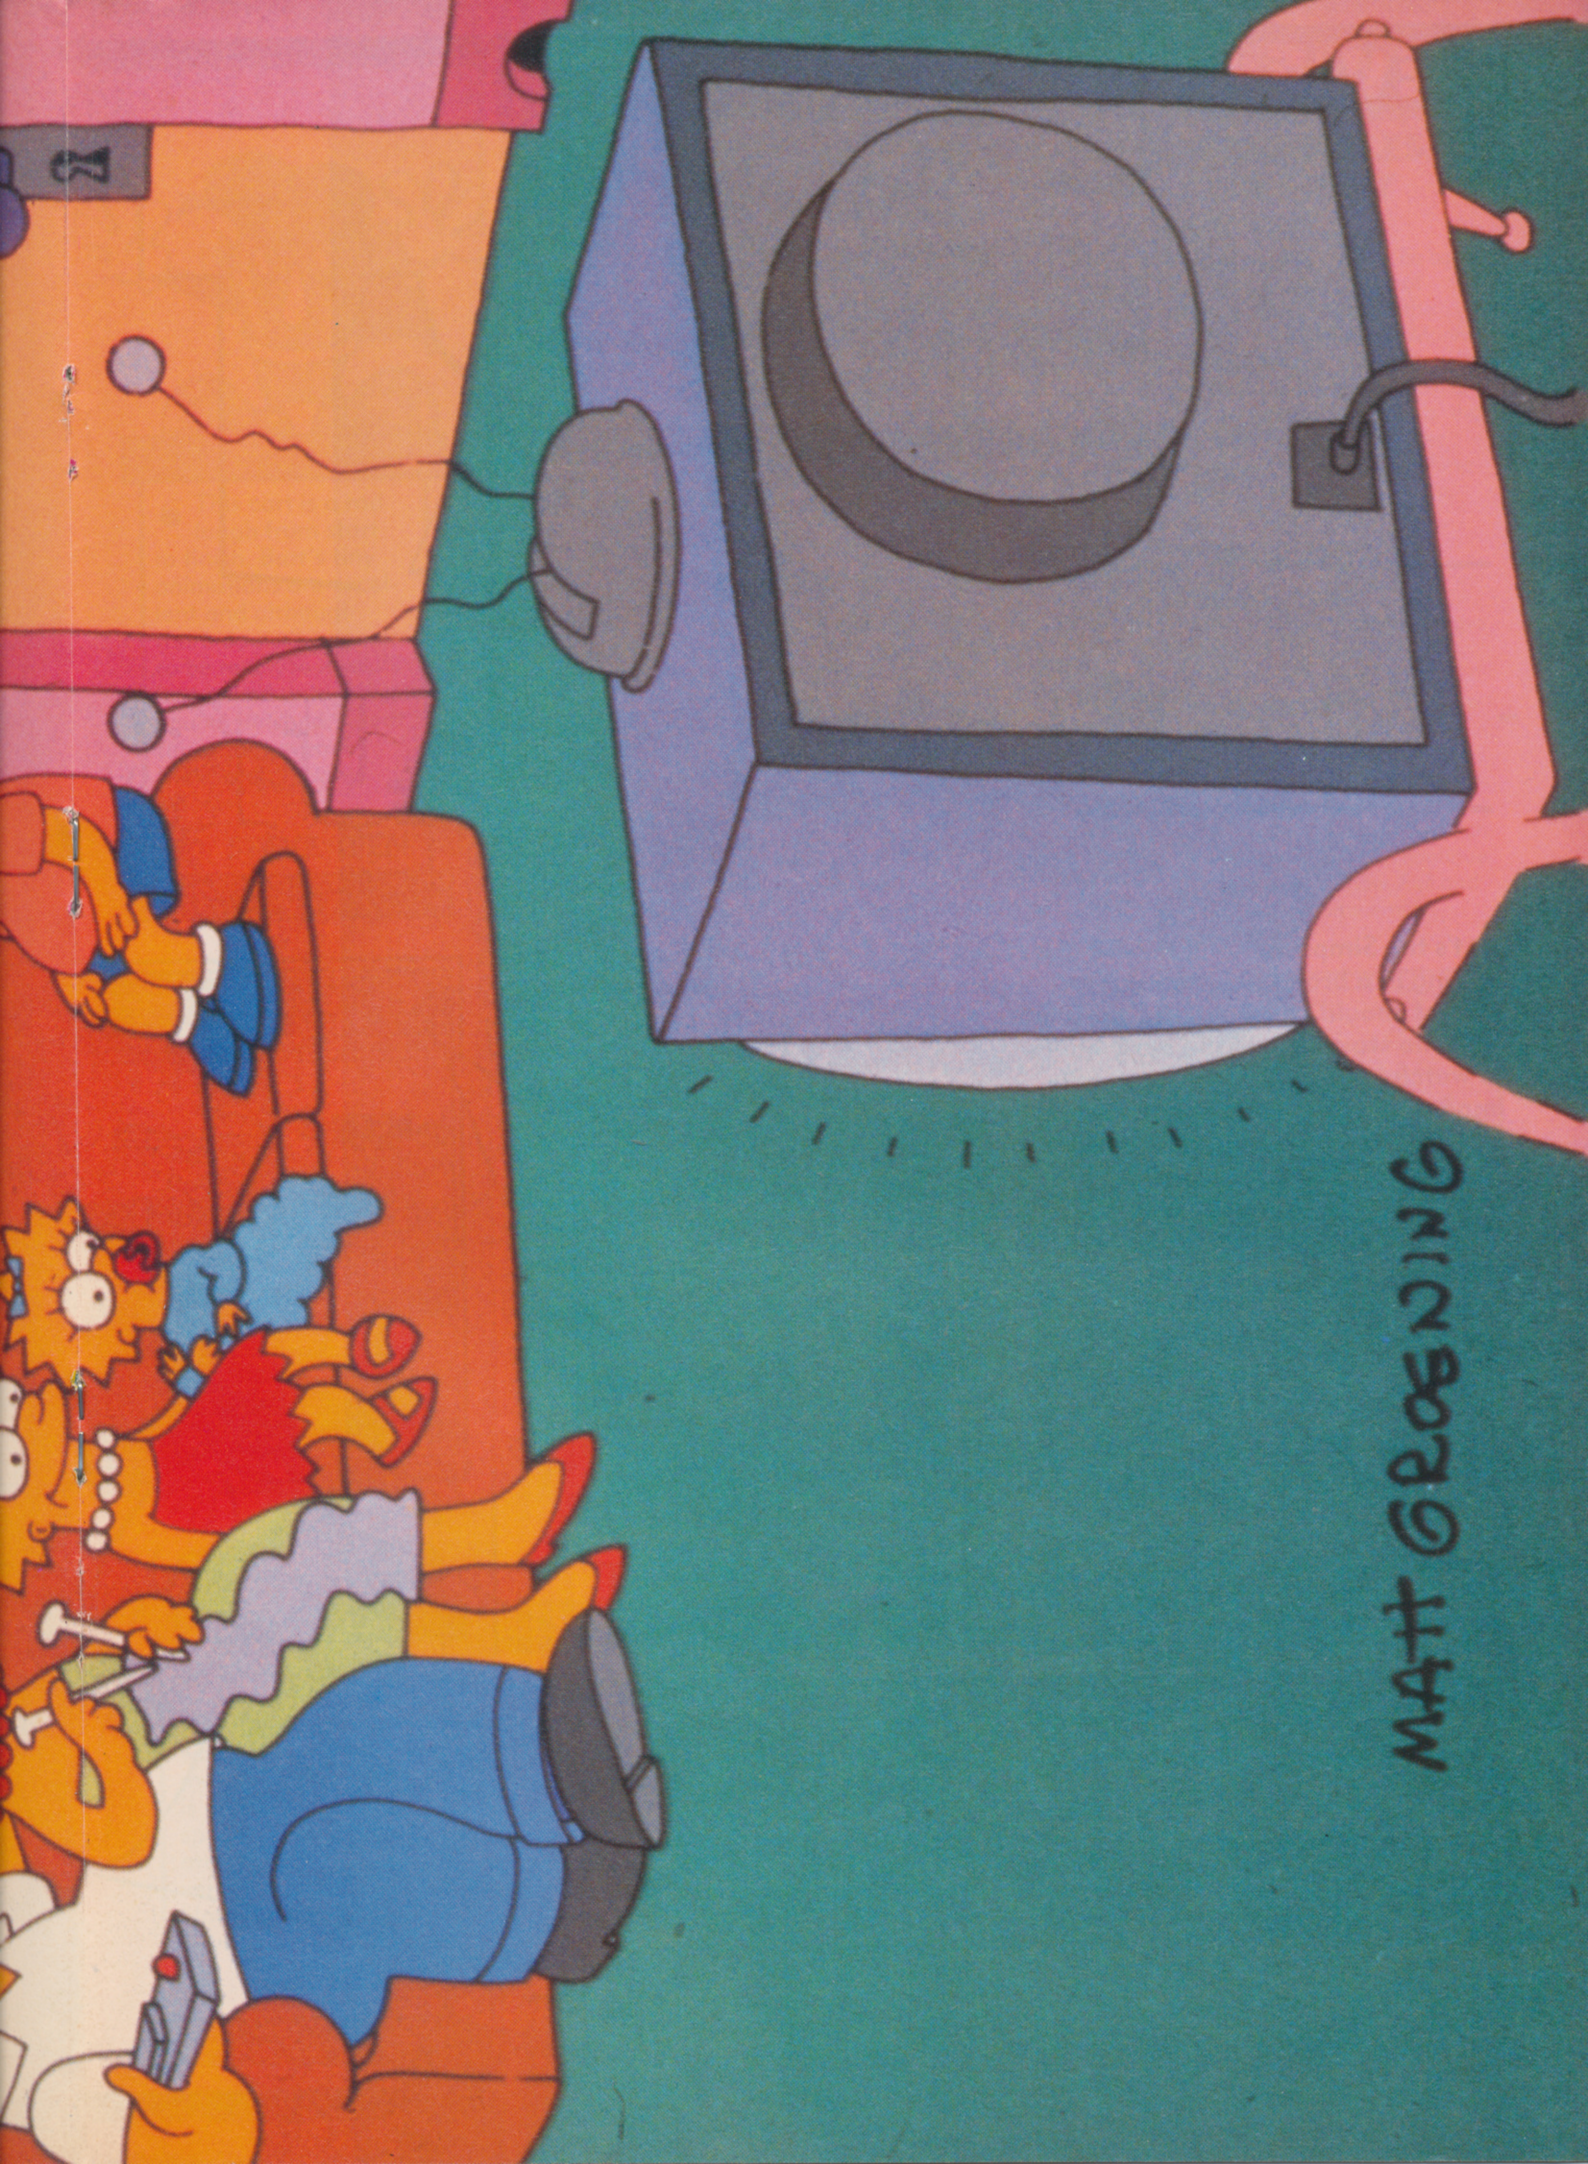
THE SIMPSONS

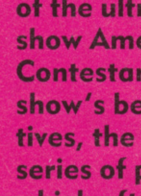




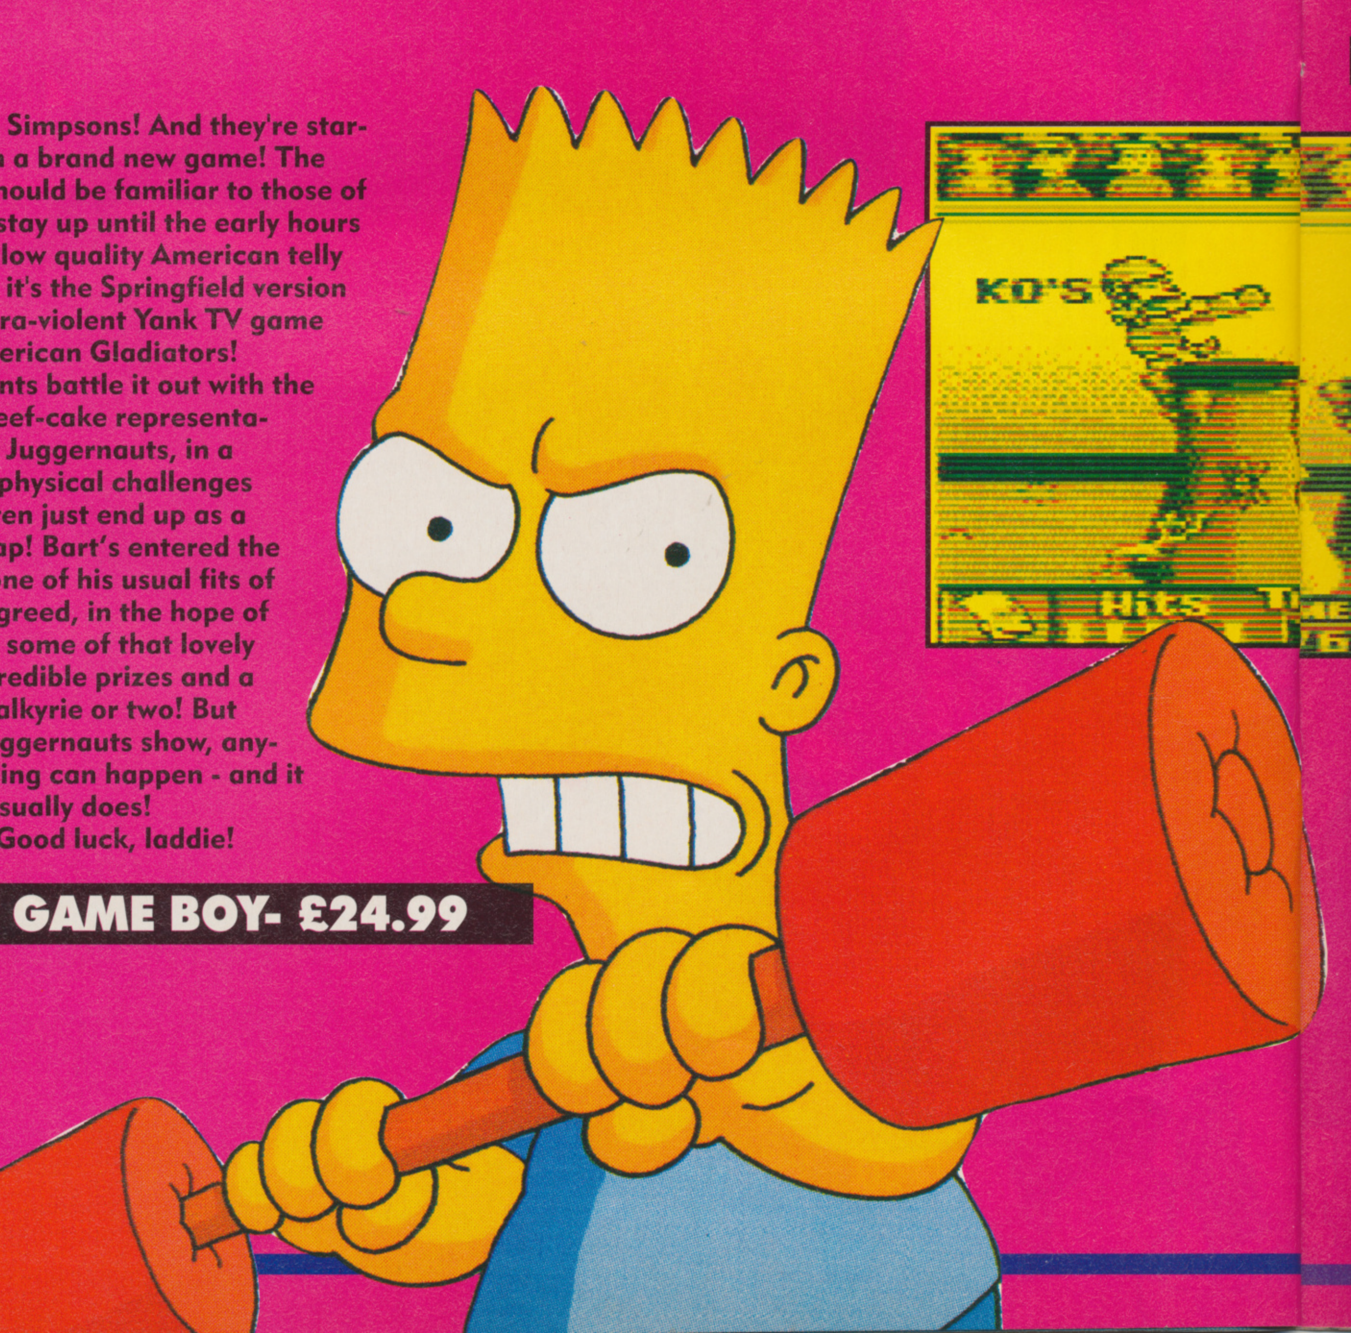
MATT GROENING

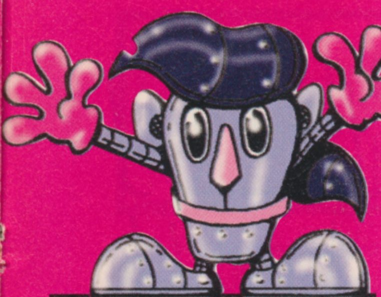
BART VS THE JUGGERNAUTS

It's the Simpsons! And they're starring in a brand new game! The plot should be familiar to those of you who stay up until the early hours to watch low quality American telly imports - it's the Springfield version of the ultra-violent Yank TV game show American Gladiators! Contestants battle it out with the show's beef-cake representatives, the Juggernauts, in a series of physical challenges which often just end up as a huge scrap! Bart's entered the show in one of his usual fits of extreme greed, in the hope of grabbing some of that lovely cash, incredible prizes and a female Valkyrie or two! But on the Juggernauts show, anything can happen - and it usually does! Good luck, laddie!



GAME BOY- £24.99





> This cart is a rad laugh from start to finish. Bart's tiny animations are excellent and although there doesn't appear to be much to it you'll be hooked until you've finished. Great tunes too, even if there aren't many effects.
>
> STEVE KEEN

Bart goes skating - mind the grabbing Juggernaut though, young Simpson!

WIDE SMILES AND SHINY GRINS

No game show would be complete without a couple of greasy hosts to extract the urine out of. Dr Marvin Monroe and Kent Brockman offer advice and tips, while most of the events contain 'cheats' that Bart can use to help on the tougher challenges, but these have to be found as you go.

PUT A SOCK IN IT

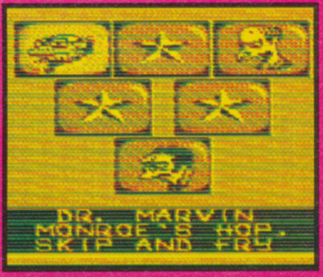
Wide mouthed Bart could have bitten off more than he can chew taking on the muscle bound Juggernauts! The show runs over four weeks, during which our kid enters six different tournaments. Before every bout you're told how much dosh you've got to get for each round before you can continue on next week's show. Fail and Bart returns home empty-handed!

AROUND THE TOWN IN 28 DAYS

The events take you all over Springfield, from plutonium staff jousting atop two cooling towers at the local nuclear power dumping site to Hommer Simpson's local watering hole for a spot of leotard clad girlie wrestling! If you manage to defeat the legendary female Juggernaut, Snarla, you'll have to face off with Hommer's old drinking buddy and the tavern's beer bellied champion grappler Barney Gumble!

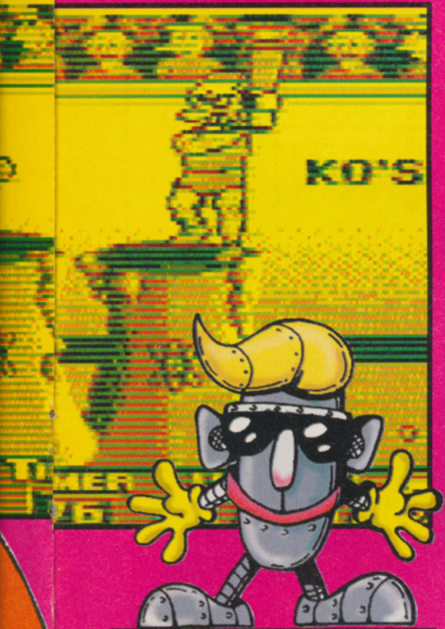
AN EVENT AND A HALF

Among the ball-busting events are Captain Lance Murdock's Skateboard Bash and Crash, where Bart has to speed down a load of ramps dodging the Juggernauts hands and lumps of pizza before flying off the top of a jump into the air towards Chunky to knock him off his pedestal. Others are Moe's Tavern Shove Fest and Dr Monroe's Hop, Skip and Fry, a hands-on game of chess as you avoid the electrocuting black squares and the meat heads in a race against time!



Which one to go for - Dr Marvin Monroe's Hop, Skip and Fry looks appealing, doesn't it - decisions, decisions...

THANKS...to Shekhana Consoles (081 889 9412) for the review cartridge.



> There's not really enough to Bart Vs The Juggernauts to warrant a real top mark, but what's there is great. Some nice sprites, even if they are simple, and some very tough game-play. Not bad for a few days play.
>
> PAUL RAND

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Just as American Gladiators give poofy names to their stars, such as Blaze and Turbo, so too the Springfield TV station. Chunky, Extra Chunky and Muscle-eena's jobs are to stop you in your tracks by trampling, stomping and bashing you from here to the Springfield Nuclear Power Plant! What a load of nonsense, eh?

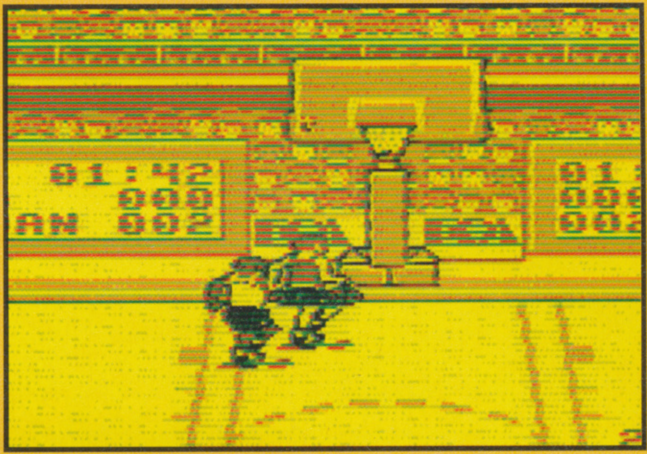
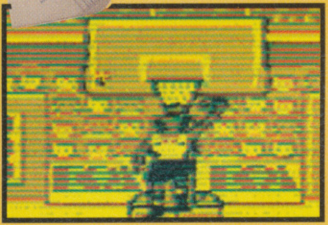
JORDAN vs BIRD

If you watched the recent Olympics in Barcelona, you'll have been quite sad to have missed the exploits of the basketball 'Dream Team', made up of the USA's finest players. Now, two of those slam-dunkin' heroes, Michael Jordan and Larry Bird, have been given the chance to show off their skills in their very own Game Boy cart , courtesy of Electronic Arts! Follow the antics of the pair in three of their favourite contests - One-on-One, Slam Dunk and Three-Point. Do you have the skill to perform like Mike or Larry - or will you, like countless players before you, be a sad case compared to these two?



He's clean through can make this one count? No 'cos he's a sad man.

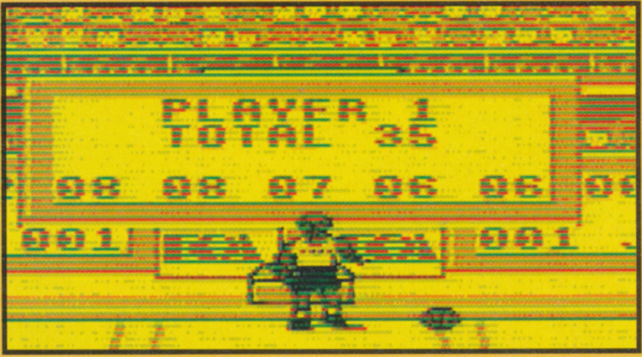
GAME BOY- £24.99



He soars above the ground and it's a spectacular dunk. Marvellous

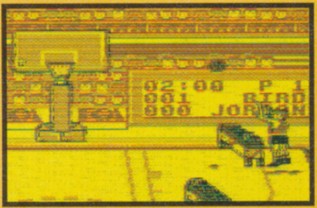
THREE FOR THE PRICE OF FIVE

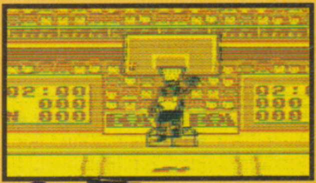
The most difficult of the three events, in Three-Point you're given five balls, to be shot from various positions around the three point area, with the idea being to score from the most difficult places on the court. It's not that hard, provided you time your jumps right, but if you mess up that ball will rocket into the crowd without even so much as a 'See ya'! A real good pose if you can pull it off, though.



JUST ME AND YOU NOW

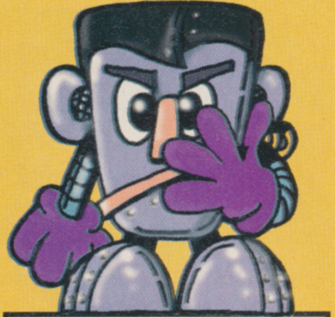
The simplest game of the bunch is the one-on-one match between Jordan and Bird. The aim is basically to get the ball in the net; mind you, you're both going for the same basket so, as you can imagine, things get a little hectic, to say the least. This is the most action-packed of the lot but by no means the most enjoyable.





DUNKIN' DONUTS

In the Slam Dunk, Mikey's fave game, you have to run towards the ring and perform the most spectacular aerial manoeuvre you can muster, each one possessing a silly name ranging from the Double-handed Windmill to the Statue of Liberty! Each move, when successfully performed, scores points - and what do points make? A win if you rack up more than your opponent!



> Jordan vs Bird always looked like a direct competitor to NBA 2, reviewed last ish. But the competition is a bit lacking really. As potentially enjoyable as Jordan vs Bird is, it just loses out to Acclaim's effort because of the comparative lack of events. Playable enough, but have a go before delving for the wad.

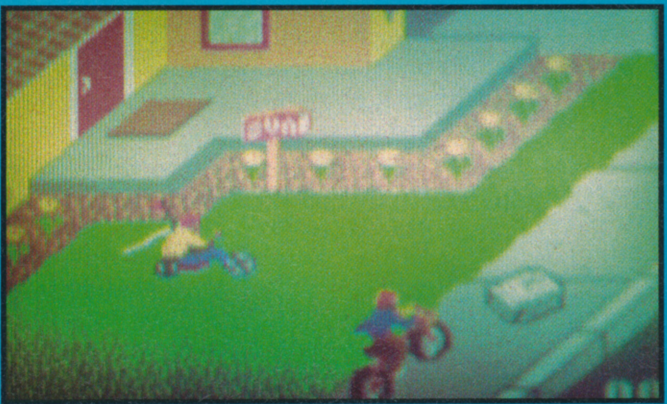
PAPERBOY

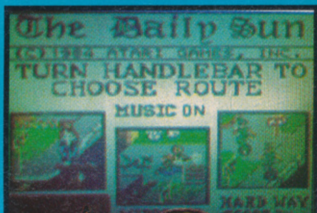
Have you ever heard your dad rant away like a man possessed because he's got to go to work in fifteen minutes and he hasn't even had a glance at the sports pages because 'That bloody paperboy is having a lie-in again'? Not pleasant, is it? But now, you're slipped into the shoes of the lad who faces the wrath of the entire street if they don't get their newspapers on time! So start pedalling, slacken up your throwing arm and get to it!

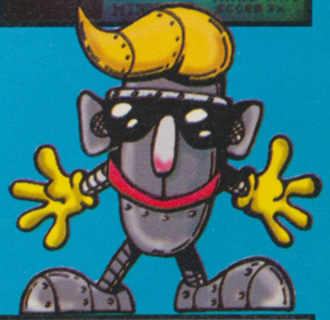
GAME GEAR- £24.99



AGONY AUNT

Because you'll have to go onto the road sometimes, you're obviously going to have to keep both eyes wide open for cars and such - they don't stop to let you pass in this game! The paperboy's biggest enemy - the stray dog - also makes an appearance, along with a host of other characters to hinder your progress, such as breakdancers and annoying children with radio-controlled cars.





> Newspaper-chucking laughs abound in Paperboy! Domark have done a top job of converting this coin-op classic to the Gear, coming up with a playable little gem with great sprites and backdrops. Addictive and fun - give it a shot!
>
> PAUL RAND

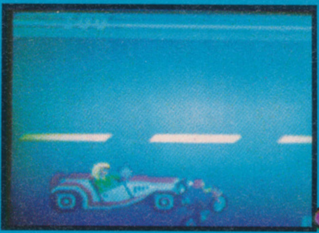
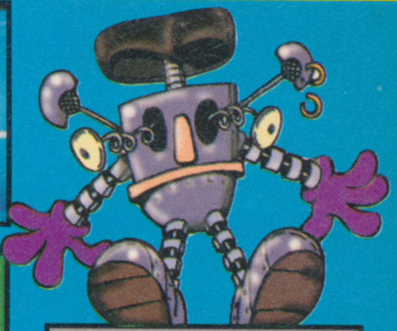
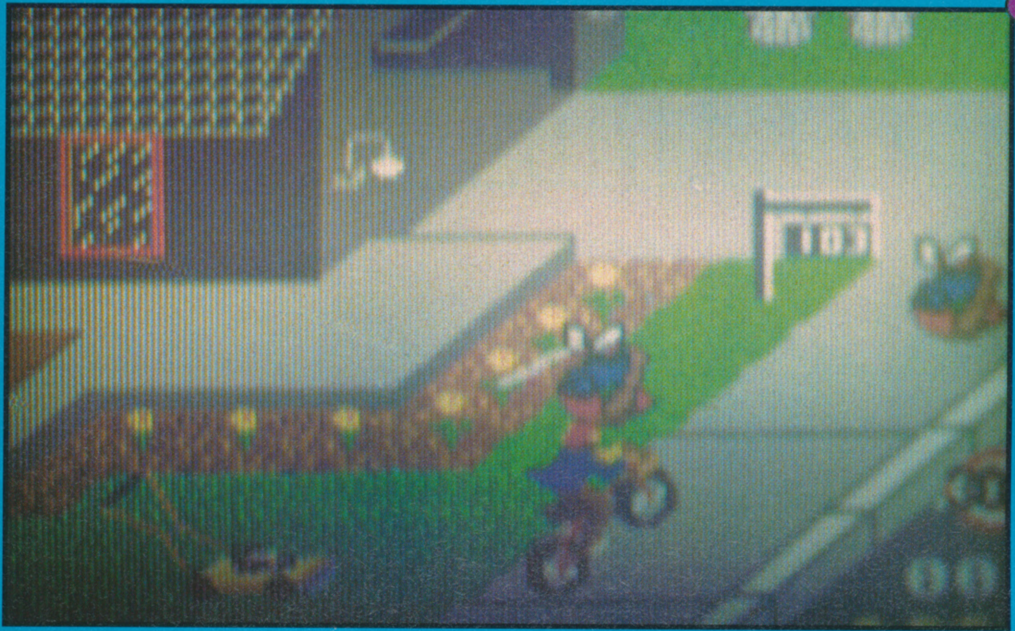
£25,000 BINGO

It's a fair bet that, at the beginning, anything other than Easy Street will be too much of a strain for one so young, but as you get better at landing those papers into the letterboxes you can tackle one of the other roads. Each round lasts for a week, and you've got to get the papers to the subscribers and smash up the houses of those folk who don't want your wares. If only you could do that in real life, eh? Imagine the fun of lobbing a Sunday Sport through the window of grumpy old Mrs Windbag at number 42!







> Okay, so Paperboy is aging a bit now, but there's nowt wrong with a good conversion of it - and that's just what this is. Graphically this is very nice, with some jolly little tunes to accompany the visuals. Simple and uncomplicated gameplay is the order of the day here. Great fun!
>

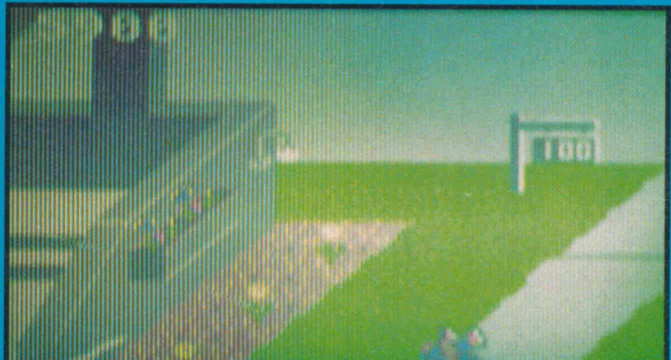
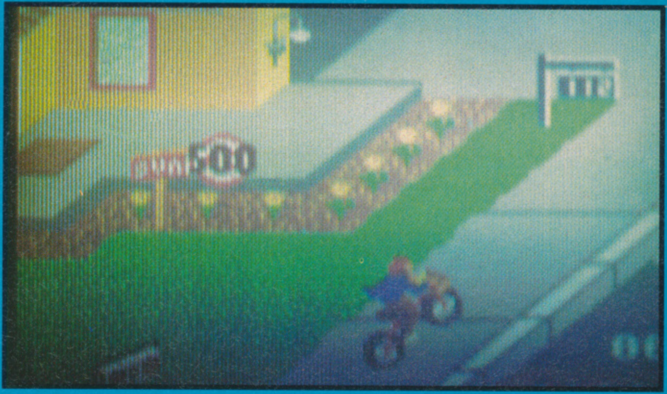
PAGE SEVEN FELLA

Everyone who's anyone has played the Paperboy coin-op, which became an outstanding hit for Atari in the early Eighties - mainly due to the novelty value of a dedicated cabinet featuring a set of real BMX handlebars. It's still worth playing today - and if you do, try the following cheat: look for a gap in the fence and ride through it for millions of points!



PAGE THREE STUNNA

Get to the end of the street and you get the opportunity to hone your skills on the specially-constructed Paper Boy stunt track! Jump over rivers, hurl newspapers at targets and, above all, get to the finish line for bumper bonus points. Hurrah!



Yahay! Paperboy's hurled a apaper slap-bang into the middle of the letterbox - and scored a whopping five-hundred point bonus! Whoo!!

RACING PAGE

You may find yourself running out of copies of The Daily Sun at times, but not to worry - just continue up the street and, sooner or later, you'll come across a big pile of papers. Simply ride over them and they'll be added to your arsenal!

ROGER CLEMEN'S BASEBALL

GAME GEAR- £24.99

Roger Clemen is a top well-known international playboy millionaire-type baseball star. Well okay, he's well known in America anyway, because the game is extremely popular over there. Roger Clemen's Baseball is a straight sim of the all-American sport - and it's something rather special, as baseball games go.

There's no need to explain the rules - you've all played baseball before or, at least, it's close relation Rounders. The graphics look very good, with the screen switching constantly to show different camera views from all around the field. There's a great deal of detail in there, with statistics on all players to help you choose the right team for the job. Hopefully the gameplay will be as hot as the presentation - find out when Roger Clemen's Baseball gets the GO! Review treatment next month!

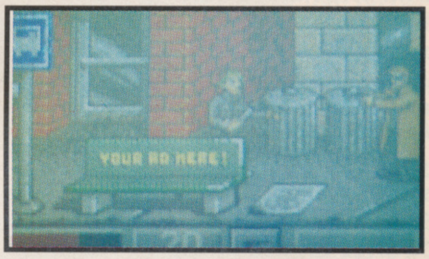
DIRTY LARRY RENEGADE COP



LYNX £29.99

It's been a long time coming, but Dirty Larry is finally ready to burst onto Lynx screens! Based upon the infamous 'Dirty' Harry Callahan character made famous in the movies by Clint Eastwood, Larry is a real hard rozzer who shoots first and asks questions later. His latest assignment is to track down and bring to justice one Harold Snuff, alias the drug boss known as Mr White.

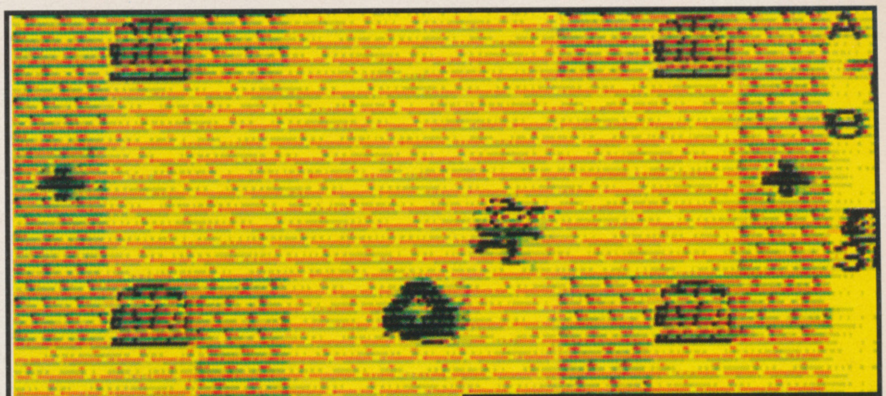
A suitable storyline for a horizontally scrolling shooter, we think you'll agree. Dirty Larry looks, and indeed plays, a lot like Batman on the Lynx, but this time the difficulty has been toned down to give players some hope of survival past the first level! The main game is interspersed with cut-scenes galore, telling the story as it develops. You'll be able to catch the full, Exclusive GO! Review of Dirty Larry - Renegade Cop in the very next issue - be there, or we'll send Larry round to sort you out!

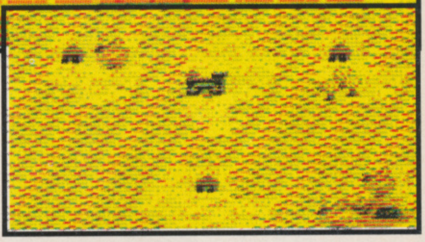
ULTIMA

GAMEBOY £24.99

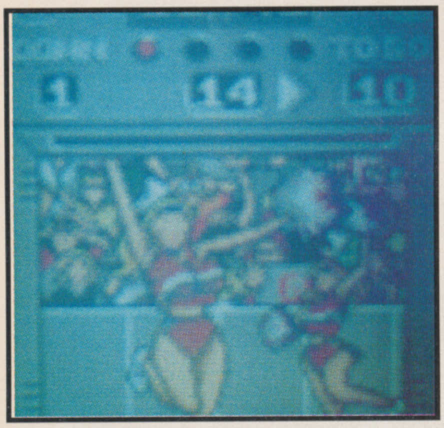
Ultima was one of the all-time computer classics and made its creators Sierra an obscene amount of money. The Ultima series enjoyed huge success on the sixteen-bits, clocking up a massive five sequels - and it's now set to take the hand-held world by storm with this Game Boy version of the classic RPG.

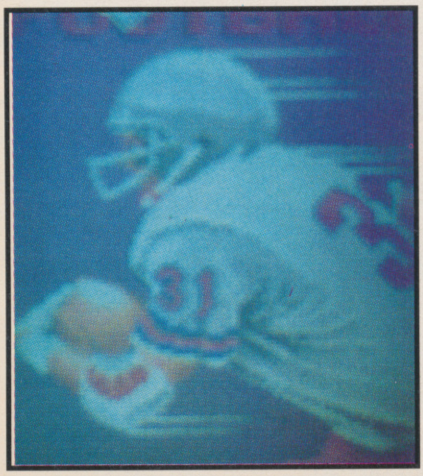
Ultima is looking really nice for a game of this kind, but what is absolutely amazing is that the entirety of the gameplay seems to have been squeezed into a Game Boy cart! From what we could see this includes all the features of the original, shrunk to fit Nintendo's little wonder. The only un-answered question is, how will it play? All will be revealed next issue, because that's the time we'll be putting Ultima through its paces in the form of that all-important GO! Review!





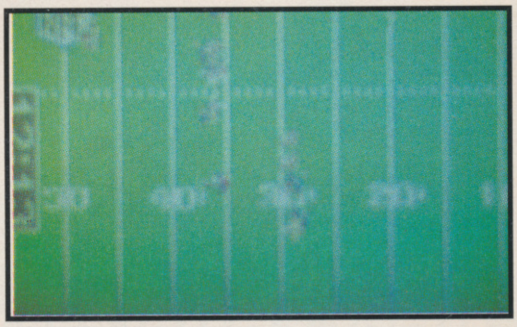
NFL FOOTBALL





LYNX £29.99

Time for a spot of fourth-and-inches on the Lynx, in the form of NFL Football! There hasn't been an American Footy sim on Atari's machine up until now - unless you count the future-sport coin-op conversion Cyberball, that is - and, from looking at this one, Lynx owners are in for a treat! All the features of the sport are in there, and the Lynx uses its graphics scaling abilities to good effect, panning out and zooming in on the birds-eye-view action at regular intervals.



One gripe we've got with NFL Football is that, as with Atari's hand-held version of Klax, the machine has to be held vertically, making control of the game rather awkward. If you're a fan of the Yanks' favourite pastime, why not pop down to your local softshop, Lynx in hand, and demand a play of this one?
